Exago's platform uses cookies. By using our software platform, you consent to the use of cookies.

Our Cookies Policy explains what cookies are, how we use cookies, how third parties we may partner with may use cookies on the platform, your choices regarding cookies and further information about cookies.

What are cookies?

Cookies are small pieces of text sent to your web browser by a website you visit. A cookie file is stored in your web browser and allows the Service or a third party to recognize you and make your next visit easier and the Service more useful to you.

Cookies can be "persistent" or "session" cookies.

How Exago uses cookies

When you use and access the Service, we may place a number of cookie files in your web browser.

We use cookies for the following purposes: to enable certain functionalities of the software, to provide analytics and to store your preferences based on your navigation.

We use both session and persistent cookies on the platform and we use different types of cookies to run the software:

- Essential cookies: We may use essential cookies to authenticate users and prevent fraudulent use of user accounts.
- Third-party cookies: In addition to our own cookies, we may also use third-party cookies to report usage statistics of the software, such as Google Analytics' service.

What are your choices regarding cookies?

If you'd like to delete cookies or instruct your web browser to delete or refuse cookies, please visit the help pages of your web browser.

Please note, however, that if you delete cookies or refuse to accept them, you might not be able to use all the features we offer, you may not be able to store your preferences, and some of our pages might not display properly.

Where can you find more information about cookies?

You can learn more about cookies on the following third-party websites:
